Payday Lending Fact Sheet

Louisiana Allows Lenders to Charge up to 1,043% APR

Payday loans are small, short-term loans that borrowers can use to cover expenses until their next paycheck. Louisiana has one of the highest concentrations of payday lenders in the country, which undermines many of the successful anti-poverty policies.

Louisiana lenders are allowed to provide loans of $50 to $350 to people who run out of money and have few alternatives to pay rent, buy groceries, or pay utilities until their next paycheck. Borrowers write a check to cover the amount of the loan, plus finance charges and fees, to be held until their next paycheck. To qualify, a borrower must have a checking account and be able to demonstrate employment. Depending on the amount borrowed, lenders charge $20 to $55 for each transaction.

- Lenders are allowed to charge 1,043% APR for a $50 payday loan, and 782% APR for a $100 loan (see attachment).
- The Louisiana Budget Project estimates that borrowers paid $205 million in fees for 4.1 million transactions in 2008 alone.

Payday loans are designed to trap borrowers in debt. In contrast to most forms of credit, payday loans must be repaid with the borrower’s next paycheck. That’s a tall order for a family already living paycheck to paycheck. Many find themselves short of cash soon after paying one loan back, and must immediately take out another loan to meet their ongoing financial obligations.

- The average borrower takes out nine loans per year and stays in debt for more than six months.
- Most borrowers do not understand the true cost of their loans and use them primarily for recurring expenses, not unexpected emergencies.

Louisiana provides little protection for families in need of short-term credit. That’s a big problem because payday lenders prey on the financially desperate and Louisiana has a high poverty rate, making it a promising place for payday lenders to find profitable customers. To put it in perspective:

- The 945 lenders currently operating statewide outnumber McDonald’s restaurants four-to-one.
- That’s roughly one payday loan store for every 4,800 people, most of which are located in or near poor neighborhoods.

Working families are spending millions of dollars on fees for these loans, money that could be spent in more productive ways such as paying off other debt, investing in education or buying a home. Louisiana should join other states that have curbed predatory lending practices by capping annual interest rates at 36 percent, limiting the number of loans per year and other important safeguards.

- Loans from $50 to $300:
- Term: 7 to 30 days.
- One easy payment.
- $25 NSF Check Fee.

Pander advances are used for short term financial needs only, not as a long term financial solution. Customers with credit difficulty should seek credit counseling.

¹ APR based on 14-day term.

The finance charge includes a documentary fee of $1.00. Loan advances are subject to credit approval by the lender. The annual percentage rate charge and documentation fees are determined by loan eligibility. The rate of the loan amount plus finance charge will be due at the end of the loan term. For a $100 loan, a payment of $150 will be due at the end of the loan term. Terms will be based on the borrower’s pay date.

In some states the maximum interest rate for a loan may be more than 12.16% of the face amount of the loan (see 817 document fee).
